

GOLDSTANDARDS

GOLD STANDARDS

- Classification tests require a gold standard of labeled samples to quantify their accuracy
- In medicine, biopsies and autopsies are often the gold standard test
- In machine learning, humans are often used to provide manually labeled data
- In engineering, sensor data can be used to establish ground truths

TEST STATISTICS