

- MCAS system on board plane was designed to automatically adjust flaps in order to prevent the aircraft stalling

- In November 2018, Lion Air flight 610 crashed killing all onboard

- In March 2019, Ethiopian Airways flight 302 crashed killing all onboard

- MCAS system has been blamed for both these accidents

- MCAS can be turned off and flaps manually adjusted

Adjusting flapsturns McAS back on

Being 73 NMA

Boeing 737 MAX

- MCAS system on board plane was designed to automatically adjust flaps in order to prevent the aircraft stalling
- In November 2018, Lion Air flight 610 crashed killing all onboard
- In March 2019, Ethiopian Airways flight 302 crashed killing all onboard
- MCAS system has been blamed for both these accidents
- MCAS can be turned off and flaps manually adjusted
- Adjusting flaps turns MCAS back on

The Smiler

