

Thimbledy, 2011

- Nurses and pharmacists are prone to making mistakes when dispensing drugs

• Simple arithmetic can be fatal

- Calculators can give ambiguous results:
 - $2 + 3 \times 4 = ?$
 - Typing errors

- However calculators have been designed in order to account for these simple errors

- They can detect and block even simple errors

Calculators

- Nurses and pharmacists are prone to making mistakes when dispensing drugs
- Simple arithmetic mistakes can be fatal
- Calculators can give ambiguous results:
 - $2 + 3 \times 4 = ?$
 - Typing errors
- However calculators have been designed in order to account for these simple errors
- They can detect and block even simple errors

Air France 447

